

Social and Personal

To-day is a time of family dinners, and most of the entertainments of the day will be very informal, Thanksgiving being a time of home-coming and home-gathering. All society will be out in full force this afternoon to attend the football game between Virginia and North Carolina Universities, and the entertainment given them by the alumni here this evening at the Masonic Temple will be a very brilliant and interesting affair. There is to be another dance given at the Country Club in honor of the men here to attend the Chi Phi Fraternity convention, in session in this city, and numerous other smaller functions will complete the round of gaieties for the day.

The Governor of Virginia and Mrs. Mann will attend services at the Church of the Covenant this morning and will later have as their guests at family dinner in the Executive Mansion Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Mann.

The Thanksgiving German.

The one big event of the day in the athletic world of the South is the football classic, which will be played this afternoon at Broad Street Park; the one big event of the day in the social life of the city will be the Thanksgiving German tendered the football team and student bodies of the universities of Virginia and North Carolina by the Richmond Alumni Association at the Masonic Temple to-night.

Interest centres in the German to-night particularly on account of the fact that the alumni are making of it an occasion for a real reunion. The wives of all the married members of the association have been asked to be patronesses, and the following have accepted and will be present: Mesdames George Analle, Samuel A. Anderson, Greer Baughman, Benjamin H. Berry, Lewis C. Boshier, B. P. Boulware, H. Goodwyn Boykin, Joseph P. Brady, Wallace F. Brown, J. St. George Bryan, Jonathan Bryan, Thomas P. Bryan, Edward N. Calhoun, Charles V. Carrington, J. Preston Carson, Lucius P. Carr, John Hampden Chamberlayne, George L. Christian, Preston Cocke, S. P. Cowardin, Beverley T. Crump, John Dunn, William W. Dunn, J. Taylor Elyson, Christopher B. Garnett, Marshall M. Gilliam, Thomas C. Gordon, Alfred J. Gray, George C. Gregory, Julian Gunn, Virginia W. Harrison, Julien H. Hill, Epps Hunter, Jr., J. Allison Hodges, Frank B. Isaacs, George Ben Johnston, William Russell Jones, David carried a white prayerbook with markings of orange and orange blossoms. Miss Ethel Talbott, who was maid of honor, wore a blue embroidered chaise longue, trimmed in silver and ruffles, with a silver picture hat, faced in blue. She carried American Beauty roses. Mr. Blow gave his daughter away, and Allen Talbott attended the groom as his best man.

The bridesmaids wore rainbow colors, pink, green, yellow and lavender, made after the colonial style and trimmed in rosebuds. They wore quaint poke bonnets and carried silver garden baskets filled with old-fashioned garden flowers. The bridesmaid were Misses Laurie Spring, Eleanor Luttrell, Helena McInch, and Laura Thompson. The groomsmen were Samuel Williams, Frank J. McCarthy, William K. Bridges and Henry Carrington, all of Richmond, and the ushers were Ad Lutz, Irvin Oliver, Gus Spring and Richard Blow.

A reception followed the ceremony at "River Bend," the country home of the bride's parents. The dining room was arranged with chrysanthemums and potted plants, and the billiard room and library were decorated in American beauties. The dining room was in green and white, and the table had silver baskets filled with orchids and bride roses, with a large one of the same flowers in the center. A large number of guests were present, including St. Louis, Richmond, Jacksonville and Chicago to attend the wedding, which was a very brilliant and fashionable event.

Mrs. Metcalf's Luncheon. Mrs. Kitty Scott McGilvra, of North Fifth Street, entertained at a very pretty luncheon of eighteen covers at the Country Club yesterday at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Metcalf invited her guests to meet Mrs. Benjamin M. Plummer, of Philadelphia, who is visiting her at her home here. The table was set with a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums, and luncheon was served in the sun parlor.

Society in Richmond is much interested in the marriage of Charles H. Talbott and Miss Sarah Narcissus Blow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ethel Blow, which took place last night in St. John's Episcopal Church, Knoxville, Tenn., at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Whitaker, and Professor Frank Nelson played the wedding music. The chancel was banked with palms and white flowers and lighted candles were used on the altar.

The bride's wedding gown was an accordion plaited robe with corsets and draperies of real lace and a court train of embroidered chaise longue. She wore her mother's wedding veil of point lace, caught with orange blossoms, and carried a white prayerbook with markings of orange and orange blossoms. Miss Ethel Talbott, who was maid of honor, wore a blue embroidered chaise longue, trimmed in silver and ruffles, with a silver picture hat, faced in blue. She carried American Beauty roses. Women, and will himself preside at the head of the table. This has been Mr. Ellett's custom for years, and the dinner is an event of greatest interest to the inmates of the home.

Of interest here.

The Baltimore Sun of yesterday contains the following of interest here: "Following the game at Homewood on Thanksgiving Day between the football squads of the Virginia Military Institute and the Johns Hopkins University, the local alumni of the Virginia Military Institute will entertain the members of the Virginia team at dinner at the Emerson. A number of the New York and Washington graduates of this institute are also expected to be present."

"After the dinner J. Booker Clark, of Howard County, expects to provide amusement to the guests by giving a box party at the Gayety Theatre."

Marriage Announced. Mrs. Emma J. Barrow announces the marriage of her daughter, Elizabeth Thomas, to Bertie A. Jones, of Hill, Tenn. The wedding was a very quiet affair, and only the immediate families of the bride and groom were present.

The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Deane Edwards, in the parlor of the bride's residence, 2602 Baltimore Street. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left immediately after the ceremony, and will be at home in Norfolk after December 15.

Called Meeting. There will be a called meeting of the General Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities held on Tuesday morning, December 3, at 11 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

David-Bonday. A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Beasley, 602 Twenty-fifth Street, on Tuesday morning, when their daughter, Estelle Taylor, became the bride of Lindsay Leroy Davis, the Rev. J. R. Johnson officiating. The bride wore a lace robe over pink chaise longue and carried white chrysanthemums. She entered with her brother, J. O. Beasley, by whom she was given away. Mrs. O. J. Gibson, mother of the bride, carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and carried bouquets of roses and carnations. F. M. Johnson was the groom's best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis left immediately after the ceremony for an extended trip to Washington and New York, returning via Philadelphia and Baltimore. On their return they will reside at 602 Twenty-fifth Street.

Is and Out of Town. Mrs. James I. Estess, Jr., will leave on Saturday for her home in Danville after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. James H. Drake, on Floyd Avenue.

Miss Louis Allen, of 2007 Monument Avenue, has as her guests for a few days Miss Margaret Harris, of Warrenton, N. C., and Miss Panthea Harrison, of Littleton, N. C.

Jett-Gardner. Heathville, Va., November 27.—Miss Vida Agnes Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gardner, and Fitzhugh Jett, both of Northumberland, were married yesterday evening in Fairport Baptist Church.

When last I had occasion to write of him, some months ago, I related in these columns how the French government, at the instance of the general in command of the great military school of St. Cyr, had requested his father to withdraw him from that institution, owing to the condition of his mind.

His intense excitability, irascibility and his insubordination to every form of discipline, I also mentioned that the major of the Serbian army, who had been assigned by the King to attend to the prince, had insisted on being relieved of these duties owing to his fear of personal violence.

Service court physicians and all sorts of dispatches from Belgrade, managed to induce the ex-crown prince to withdraw to a sanatorium in Switzerland. He left the latter on the outbreak of the war. But it seems to have been necessary to place him under restraint when he reached home, owing to the fury to which he gave way when he discovered that no command would be accorded to him in the Serbian army in the field.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that while the Bulgarians, the Greeks and even the Montenegrins, are all admitted to have conducted their military operations with all such humanity as is compatible with war, the Bulgarians particularly shining in this respect, the Serbians have distinguished themselves by their barbarity, and by their massacre not only of prisoners and of wounded, but also of the women and children of the towns and villages which fell into their hands. Indeed, their savagery has excited such intense resentment among the Albanians, who have been the principal sufferers, that there is no likelihood of their being permitted to ever add any portion of Albania to their kingdom.

MOSLEM "RED CROSS" FOUNDED BY RUSSIAN

Wife of Turkish Ambassador to Court of St. James Is Given Credit.

BY LA MARQUISE DE PONTENROY. It is, to say the least, strange that the Red Crescent Society, which is the Moslem counterpart of the European and American Red Cross Society, should have been founded by a woman who is not only a Christian, but likewise by birth a Russian. It is Mrs. Rifaat, wife of the Turkish ambassador to the court of St. James, and daughter of that general von Rensinkamp who played so important a role as a commander of cavalry during the Russo-Japanese War. She is a member of that orthodox Greek rite of Christianity to which all the Balkan nationalities now engaged in fighting the Turks belong and which is also the State Church in Russia and Rumania. She is on terms of great intimacy with Queen Olga of Greece and her Russian daughter-in-law, Princess Nicholas, known popularly as her marriage as Grandduchess Helen Vladimirovna.

At the time when Mrs. Rifaat founded the Red Crescent Society, and which did good work in Tripoli, her husband was minister of foreign affairs at Constantinople. At one moment he was gazetted as envoy of the Sublime Porte at Washington.
